It is my intention that others will be comforted by the overwhelming evidence of life after death for animals; the highly substantiated notion that our loved ones never really die, no matter their species, no matter their size.

ANIMALS AND THE AFTERLIFE

True Stories of Our Best Friends' Journey Beyond Death

About the Author

Kim Sheridan grew up in Southern California, surrounded by animals of various shapes and sizes. As a young child, she was known as the “neighborhood vet,” often nurturing injured baby birds with an eyedropper feeder and a warm bed. She seemed to have an extra-special connection to animals and an ability to communicate with them. Kim spent her free time drawing animals and writing about them, and she won numerous awards for her works. She also had an insatiable fascination with the afterlife. While other children were out playing games, Kim was often found dividing her time between nurturing animals in her care, and looking for evidence of life after death. She attempted to capture ghosts on film and tape, and she entertained family members with various other attempts at contacting the Other Side. At the time, it never occurred to her to include animals in her search.

As an adult, Kim’s life changed direction. First, she earned degrees in Psychology and Hypnotherapy. Then, she studied health and nutrition; earned a degree in Naturopathy; and became a respected health writer, researcher, and nutritional consultant. She also co-founded a nutritional supplement company, HealthForce Nutritionals, Inc., which offers nutritional supplements for both humans and animals (including the famous Green Mush™). Kim never outgrew her childhood interests, however. Her spare time was spent exploring the spiritual path, as well as volunteering for various organizations on behalf of animals. Being a devoted animal lover, she also operated a dog walking and pet-sitting service, and she began welcoming rescued rats into her home (which has become known as the Rat Refuge and provides sanctuary for a multitude of very happy rescued rats).

While grieving the loss of a beloved animal companion, Kim unexpectedly began to receive signs and messages from the Other Side. This led her on an incredible journey into the realm of animals and the afterlife, bringing her full circle to the path begun in childhood. Today she is a highly respected and sought after expert on life after death for animals, and her time is devoted not only to animals but to those who are left behind when they pass.

Kim is a popular guest on radio and television, and she has written numerous articles about animals. She is an acclaimed lecturer and workshop leader, providing support to those whose beloved animal companions have passed. Kim has been listed in Who’s Who in Executives and Professionals, 2,000 Notable American Women, and Great Minds of the 21st Century. Her goal is to help make the world a better place, and to teach compassion and respect for all.
